Jim "Uncle Jimby" Aron, came into this world performing his own C-section (from the inside) with a #11 Xacto blade, an organic launch to his future toy airplane career. An Xacto blade in his hands has been compared to a paint brush in Van Gogh's, though he has not yet lost an ear. In addition to winning his third Golden State Stunt Championship's Concours d'Elegance award, he is also a three-time National Concours d'Elegance winner! (How many do you have Chris?) It should be noted that Mr. Aron, humble to a fault, never gloats about his near perennial 6th or 7th place finishes at local and regional contests, as well as his ubiquitous 21st place finishes at the US Nationals (The NATS). His Rookie of the Year Award at the 2007 NATS seemed to him to be simply rubbing salt in the wounds of others, so he just stopped practicing which, indeed, seemed to do the trick. Rumors that he regularly finds 3 olives in his thinner cup are greatly exaggerated, although he has been known to use nitrate thinner when the gin supply runs low. However, he never mixes vermouth with butyrate....and he doesn't own a Tesla. —a Concerned Citizen xxxxxxxxxx
